 - The interface is only displayed after the 3rd Class Change has happened, and the functions related to it are unusable until that point.

➤ You can find the force page via the skill window.

- The force tab is separated into two lists.

1 Active Force

- Right-click on a force skill in the force inventory to register the active skill in an appropriate empty slot.
- Right-clicking a skill in the "Active Force" tab will remove the skill from the list of active force skills.
- If you activate a force skill with the same name as one that's already active, the currently active skill will be replaced.

2 Force Inventory

- 32 slots total
- If you use a force skill in the inventory, the item will be deleted and an empty slot will be registered in the force inventory.
- Recently added skills are marked with a golden border.
- Once you've selected the force extractor button you can select a skill you've learned in the force inventory. This skill will then be removed and an appropriate item will be added to the special tab in the inventory.
- You can purchase the extractor in the shop.

1 Active Force is separated into three lists.

- Passive

 - Unactivated force skills can be sold and thrown away but cannot be stored in the account bank.
 - Sale price: 1,000,000 ED
 - You can activate unactivated force skills by right-clicking on them in the inventory, at which time they will be assigned to the character.
 - Activating a force skill that's registered in the force inventory will immediately apply its effect.
 - This change will be shown in the character UI straight away.
 - Activated force passive skills are applied immediately.
 - Once activated, force active skills can be used via their Force Skill Slot.
 - A force switch skill comes into effect once you use the previous skill in the skill slot.
 - Force skills use the same settings as normal skills; they do not use Strong Skill settings.
 - It's possible to register multiple force skills with the same name in the force inventory, but only 1 force can be activated.
- Note that you can change the recorded amount of force skill item seals later.
